

British Virgin Islands – Homeschool Teacher

We are searching for an experienced Female, Academic Tutor for a homeschooling position on Jost Van Dyke in the British Virgin Islands. This person will work directly with one 5th grade female student and must be versed in core subject areas.

The ideal candidate is highly self-motivated, professional and adept at preparing experience-rich lessons. Considering JVD is an island, outdoor activities and learning experiences will take place daily: hiking, collecting aquatic, plant and wildlife specimens, swimming, boating, etc.

This is an excellent opportunity to join our growing family at The Motivational Edge, while helping to launch academic enrichment opportunities for young people on JVD, some of which will align with our existing programming at Foxy's School of Music.

Responsibilities and Duties

- Provide homeschool instruction to one 5th grade student: max 25 hours of work per week
- Maintain professionalism and be a positive role model
- Report student's areas of needs/deficiencies
- Follow curriculum, and construct parallel weekly lesson plans, identifying outcomes (Student will be able to....)
- Provide daily overview of each day with youth, correlating to learning outcomes

Qualifications and Skills

- Friendly and professional demeanor
- Availability between October 2019 through May 2020
- Exceptional instructional skills
- Minimum of 1 year of experience as an instructor for youth under the age of 13
- Bilingual English and Spanish – other languages are a plus

Compensation/Perks

- $400/week with full room (1-bedroom apartment) and board (delicious food from Foxy's Tamarind Bar/Restaurant) included
- Opportunity to travel the Virgin Islands with/without the family you'll be working with
- Opportunity to come home when needed or desired

